

U. S. OFFICIALS SKEPTICAL OVER ADVISABILITY OF NEW WORLD CONFERENCE AT PRESENT TIME

Administration Feels Time is Not Propitious For Calling of Second Meeting on Disarmament—
Treaties Are Not Yet Ratified.

Washington, Dec. 14.—While the American government is thoroughly in sympathy with the project of calling another world conference on limitation of armament—this time to restrict the size and scope of submarines, aircraft and auxiliary naval vessels of all classes—administration officials are nevertheless highly skeptical of the success that would attend such a gathering as that at Washington.

Officials, who guided the last conference through the perilous shoals of European jealousies expressed the opinion that the time is not propitious for the calling of another conference with France and Great Britain in disagreement on many of their international policies and with the clouds of war still hovering over the Balkans and the Near East.

They were quick to point out, too, that the treaties negotiated by the epoch-making conference last winter have not yet been ratified by France and Italy, and there exists no certainty as to when these instruments will be ratified and the results of the 1921-22 parley made operative.

The same disagreements which almost wrecked the last conference would "hob up" to prevent a new conference from accomplishing its purpose, according to views expressed by officials in close touch with the situation.

The Washington conference it was pointed out, made a prodigious effort at limiting submarines and auxiliary naval craft, but France refused to accept a ratio of 1.75 to 5 on these vessels, and Great Britain was unwilling that the French ratio should be increased.

That was the rock upon which efforts to limit submarines finally smashed, and it is still there as formidable now as it was a year ago, in the opinion of American officials.

While describing an American move in the direction of a new conference as "too early" at this time, President Harding and Secretary Hughes are nevertheless satisfied to see congress initiate action looking to reduced armament through another conference.

For one thing it was explained to day by Administration spokesmen, it will serve notice on the world that America stands ready to participate and take the lead in any further efforts at reducing the tremendous cost of armed preparation under which the whole world, and particularly Europe is now staggering.

President Harding and Secretary Hughes both believe that ultimately there will be another limitation of armament conference, but they also believe that when it comes it should aim at not only naval limitation, but limitation of land armament as well. An effort was made to limit armies at the Washington conference, but it fell by the wayside because of French opposition.

Officials figures gathered by the state department and transmitted to the senate show that 15 nations of Europe, not including Russia, are now spending approximately one fifth of their annual revenues for the maintenance, equipment and training of standing armies—all this while incurring annual budget deficits, and while millions are on short food rations.

These conditions must be remedied, in the opinion of President Harding and his advisers but they do not believe the jealousies and distrust aroused by the war have yet cooled sufficiently to permit general limitation of armament by mutual agreement.

DAUGHERTY'S ENEMIES SHADOWED IT IS CHARGED AT NEW HEARING

Members of Congress Who Criticised Attorney General
Subjected to Annoyance Impeachment Trial
Proceedings Allege.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Charges that members of Congress, who indulged in criticism of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, were "shadowed" by agents of the Department of Justice and subjected to various forms of annoyance, featured the resumption of the impeachment hearing before the house judiciary committee today.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty will likely collapse, interrupting an extended cross-examination of witnesses called before the house judiciary committee in its hearings of charges against the attorney general, Chairman Voistead declared he did not believe it possible, judging from the character of testimony already presented, to make anything out of the case against Mr. Daugherty.

The hearing took on an aspect somewhat like that of a trial and defense of William J. Burns, director of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. Testimony covered a wide range, beginning with the Oregon land fraud trials in 1905 and running through the arrest and confession of the McNamara brothers in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building and events of more recent date. Numbered among these was the political feud which developed between Taft and Roosevelt in 1912 and the assistance which the American Federation of Labor is rendering Representative Keller in the presentation of some of his charges against Mr. Daugherty.

Dayton, O., Dec. 14.—Irvin Laver, "the rabbit man," will be tried for the slaying of Arthur Moore, 14-year-old boy scout. He is under indictment for murder in the first degree. A commission of Dayton alienists and physicians yesterday declared Laver sane, in a report made to Prosecuting Attorney Haveth Mau. It is expected that he will be tried early in January.

Arthur Moore was found murdered last May in a field near McCabe's park. He had been assaulted and choked to death.

TWELVE MEN AND WOMAN ARRESTED

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Twelve men and a woman were arrested early today charged with robbing P. J. Caldwell, a messenger for the Logan Square Trust and Savings bank of $19,000 last Tuesday. Several thousand dollars in cash were recovered.

At the same time police spread a wide dragnet for two bandits who last night robbed the offices of James E. Harrison, downtown diamond broker of $100,000 worth of un-set diamonds and $2,000 cash.

MORGAN GIVES HUGHES VIEWS ON GERMAN REPARATIONS QUESTION

State Department Refuses to Make Public Nature of Morgan's Advice—Visit Guarded With Utmost Secrecy

Washington, Dec. 14.—J. Pierpont Morgan has given Secretary of State Hughes his views of the German reparations tangle, which has caused a renewed threat of a break in the Franco-British entente, but the nature of Morgan's advice was a closely guarded secret here today.

The State Department flatly refused to make announcement concerning Morgan's visit, which was unheralded and surrounded by secrecy. The financier arrived in Washington late yesterday from the station to the State Department and returned to New York in his private car a few hours later, as quickly as he had come.

While a blank wall of silence was offered today to all inquiries as to the purpose of Morgan's visit, the impression was put forward that Morgan was sent for by Secretary Hughes from a prolonged stay in London and Paris, during which he sat in with the reparations commission in its consideration of the indemnity question. The outstanding development of Morgan's European trip was his refusal to participate in an international loan to Germany under present conditions.

Paris, Dec. 14.—Although former Premier Georges Clemenceau is far away from France, returning home upon the liner Paris, he made his political influence felt by wireless today.

Francois Cruey, correspondent of the Petit Parisien, who is accompanying "the Tiger" sent an interview from the liner, which created tremendous sensation in the Chamber of Deputies today threatens to destroy party alignments.

The former premier made the following points in his statement:

- 1.—Opposed occupation of the Ruhr by France.
- 2.—Urged ratification of the Washington conference treaty by France.
- 3.—Approved a proposal that President Harding arbitrate Anglo-French differences.
- 4.—Warned France, to make costly sacrifices to retain American friendship.

Political capital will be made of the interview when Premier Poincare addresses the chamber of deputies tomorrow.

STATE RESTS CASE IN FUNDERBURGH TRIAL AS WITNESS LIST EXHAUSTED

LEGION OPPOSES PLAN TO LINK BEER AND BONUS

Organization Frowns on
Rum Revenue Provisions of Measure

Washington, Dec. 14.—The American Legion has definitely decided to frown upon all plans for linking a beer and light wine act to the new soldiers' bonus bill, legion officials informed International News Service today.

Legion officials reached this decision here at a conference which included the new national commander, Alvin Owsley, former commander and several state leaders. The soldier legislators were unqualifiedly opposed to rum revenue provisions, it was said, through fear that raising the prohibition issue would jeopardize passage of the bonus by the present congress.

A majority of legion officials also are opposed to inclusion in the new bill of any provisions for payment of the bonus, it was said. This ban would extend not only to sales taxes and luxury taxes but even to the proposed bond issue suggested by Chairman Fordney, of Michigan, of the House ways and means committee. Representatives of the soldiers' organizations are determined to force action on the new measure during the present session. This drive was heartily endorsed by soldier members of the House, who announced their willingness to conduct a bonus fight on the floor to the exclusion of all other legislation until the bill was enacted.

Chairman Fordney, who declared he was ready to introduce the new bonus bill planned to call upon the president this week to discuss the bonus situation.

The Fordney plan tentatively includes provision for paying the bonus through a bond issue. This bond issue would either be made to cover the entire cost of the bonus or to pay off each soldier with a government bond which could easily be cashed. Legion officials apparently are opposed to both suggestions.

Former service men in the house are backing the legion in its fight. Their position was outlined today by Rep. Royal Johnson, Republican of North Dakota who served overseas during the war.

"The former soldiers in the house are determined the bonus will be enacted by the present congress," said Johnson. "It will be passed before next March 4. This time I hope the president will sign it."

SHIPPING BILL IS PRAISED BY JONES AS AID TO FARMER

Washington, Dec. 14.—The shipping bill was held up before the senate as a bill "for the benefit of the American farmer, the American business man and the American nation," and, on the other hand, as "a direct raid on the treasury to pay some people to do what they ought to do without payment."

The measure was before the senate for more than four hours, and during that time was praised by Senator Jones, chairman of the commerce committee, and was attacked by Senator Fletcher, ranking Democratic member of the same committee.

While the discussion proceeded on the floor, foes of the measure and advocates of rural credits legislation further cemented their alliance designed to displace the ship bill in favor of the farm measure. Indications became increasingly apparent, however, that this move could not be made in the near future, as no rural credits bill possessing any considerable degree of support appeared in sight in the senate workrooms.

Senator Jones, in concluding his opening statement on behalf of the shipping bill, appealed for the support of it by the farmers and by labor. He emphasized the national defense possibilities of a firmly established American merchant marine and declared that the German merchant marine won the war for the allies. When senators expressed surprise at the declaration, he presented figures to show that German ships which were seized in American ports carried 600,000 American soldiers to France, whereas American ships transported only 248,000 troops.

Senator Fletcher did not conclude his discussion of the measure. He probably will be followed by Senator LaFollette, who will inaugurate the onslaught of the new progressive bloc on the legislation.

London, Dec. 14.—The British treasury department today attributed the sharp rise of the British pound sterling on the exchange market to the improvement of the British trade position and the fact that American cotton bills have just been paid.

While treasury officials admitted that the advance would make payment of the British debt to the United States easier they denied that any government steps had been taken to bolster up the pound sterling artificial

Announcement That Prosecution Would Close Its Testimony Early in Afternoon Comes as Surprise To the Spectators

COURT ADMITS TESTIMONY OBJECTED TO

Witnesses "Fooled" by Boys' Trick, Introduced By the State, Are Permitted to Give Answers—Boy Twelve On Stand

Patrolman Charles Simms, one of the posse of Sheriff Funderburgh, which fired on the boys as supposed bandits was placed on the stand by the defense Thursday afternoon as its second witness.

Simms told virtually the same story of the affair as he did before Coroner R. L. Haines. He declared that the officers had called "halt," before firing, and that six or eight shots were fired at the fleeing forms. He denied that he had fired any shots himself. He was also questioned as to the kind and make of guns carried by the posse. His cross examination was conducted by Attorney C. J. Mattem for the prosecution.

In an effort to show that the minds of Sheriff Funderburgh and his aides were agitated when they went to the later tragic scene on the Wilmington pike, by a story of a recent attempted hold-up of a motorist on the Dayton and Yellow Springs road where a fire ruse was used, Charles Coffman, marshal of Yellow Springs was the first witness introduced by the defense when it opened its case Thursday afternoon.

Marshal Coffman testified that after reporting to Sheriff Funderburgh the supposed attempted hold-up he walked down street, and met Patrolman Simms, to whom he stood talking. While he was there Harold Moore and Miss Humphrey, who later are said to have notified the sheriff of episode on the Wilmington pike, drove up and stopped to talk to Officer Simms. He said that he did not hear what they told the officer.

The defense in the case of the State against Sheriff L. Funderburgh and his posse for the second degree murder of Volney Nichols, September 5, began its case Thursday afternoon shortly after the opening of the afternoon session, when the State announced that its testimony was concluded.

Announcement that the state would close its testimony as made by Attorney C. L. Darlington, assistant for the prosecution just before the close of the morning session, came as a surprise to spectators.

Attorney Darlington asked Judge R. G. Hornbeck for an adjournment twenty minutes earlier than the time for the usual noon recess at 12 o'clock, and explained that all of the state's witnesses available had been heard. He explained for the benefit of the defense, that counsel for that side would be able to begin its case shortly after the resumption of court in the afternoon as the state would probably only call one or two witnesses, whose testimony would be brief. Court was adjourned for the noon recess at 11:40 o'clock and resumed in the afternoon at 1:15 o'clock fifteen minutes earlier.

Twenty-two witnesses were called by the prosecution during the morning session, and the testimony in most cases was brief. Ruling on an objection interposed by the defense at the close of Wednesday evening's testimony, to the admittance of testimony of witnesses for the state, who passed the scene of the shooting before that time, and were "fooled" by the trick used by the boys, the court held that part of this testimony was admissible. The witnesses were heard, however, from telling whether they were frightened, thought they were being held up, or realized that it was boys' trick, or whether they talked to the boys and what the conversation was.

Witnesses of this nature, who testified, were Harry Jordan, Dr. H. A. Hoffman, Jesse Gilbert, Harold Rearick Roy Tribbey, Mrs. Roy Tribbey, Orville Ellis, Walter Blackmore, Retta Bowles, Ernest Wolford and Fred DeVoe. Don Clark testified that he passed the scene but did not see the tire, Roland Faulkner, Russell Mason and George Ellis, accompanied the coroner to the scene after the shooting. Frederick Hartsook, who also accompanied the coroner, picked up the shells near the scene and turned them over to the coroner. On the stand, he identified the shells, Rufus Glass and Mrs. Rufus Glass were away from home at the time of the shooting. Joseph Rudduck and Mrs. Joseph Rudduck, who live a quarter of a mile from the scene of the shooting, testified that they heard the shots and identified some as louder than others. Ralph Spahr, testified that he heard the shots, in two volleys with a pause between, and identified one gun as louder than the others.

Don Weaver and Clarence Keiter, two of the boys who were with the party, were the last witnesses called by the State. Weaver told the story of the prank the boys are playing, and testified that there were two volleys of shots, with a pause between. He also said he shouted for the officers to quit shooting. Under cross examination of Harry D. Smith, he testified that he had not talked to attorneys for the state, either in a meeting in Darlington's office last Sunday or at any other time.

Clarence Keiter, the 12 year old boy who was slightly injured during the shooting, took the stand last before the recess and told a straight-forward story. He said he ran from the lumber pile when the shooting began and was between Dorsey and Volney Nichols, when he was struck by a piece of bullet in his leg. He said he stepped behind a tree, and a man with a moustache and a revolver said, "What are you trying to do? Commit a murder? Throw up your hands." The man led him to the road by the hand, he said. He was not cross-examined.

There was a dramatic touch in the proceedings in the trial of Sheriff Lincoln Funderburgh and his posse for second degree murder in connection with the death of Volney Nichols, September 5, in Common Pleas Court Wednesday afternoon, when Judge R. G. Hornbeck of London, who is presiding, had to order the Court Room partially cleared.

The incident came during the cross-examination of Dorsey Nichols, 16, brother of the slain youth, who was himself wounded three times during the fatal shooting, and who had been called to the stand by the State.

The cross-examination was being conducted by Judge Marcus Shoup, one of the defense counsel, and was the first active part he had taken in the proceedings. The attorney had asked the witness why it was he was unable to witness the officers but a short distance from him on the night of the shooting. The witness replied, "Do you think I had time to look at them and see who they were, with them shooting at me?"

The statement was greeted with applause and hand-clapping from the crowded spectator's section, and Judge Shoup shouted, "Clear the Court Room." Instantly, C. L. Darlington, assistant in the prosecution, jumped to his feet, crying, "Yes, clear it, Shoup," Judge Shoup, replied, "Charley, I'm surprised at you." The Court immediately rapped for order, and instructed Court officials to clear the room of all spectators, who did not have seats in the spectators' section.

The Court then ordered a five minute recess, and taking the attorneys into private conference, adjured them against further disturbances during the proceedings. When the jury returned, the Court instructed it not to consider the incident which he said had no place in a court of justice, and asked the jurors to dismiss it from their minds. The court also told spectators that if there were further demonstrations, the individual or individuals responsible would be removed from the Court Room.

A question of whether the State will be permitted to introduce a number of witnesses subpoenaed to show that they passed the scene of the shooting on the night of the tragedy, and were "fooled" by the ruse used by the boys in play, but considered it only a prank, and were not alarmed or led to believe they were victimized by bandits, will be decided tomorrow by the Court following an objection interposed by the defense counsel. The objection was made by Judge Shoup during the testimony of Harry Jordan, last witness called by the prosecution. The Court dismissed the jury for the night while attorneys argued the point. Judge Shoup held that the testimony of those witnesses would have no relation to the case on the grounds that the situation as discovered by the officers could not be the same as observed by the witnesses, C. J. Mattem, of Dayton, assistant counsel for the State, said the evidence was proper and would show that no other motorists besides the party of officers became alarmed at the prank, and that many had been fooled without a thought of hold-up men. The Court asked the defense counsel for law citations to prove its cause and will give a decision in the morning.

Including Jordan, who only partially testified, five witnesses were called by the State during the afternoon session. Warren Middleton, the first witness called during the afternoon session, was one of the boys shot during the affair of September 5. He told the jury that the officers did not make an outcry before they began shooting, and that one of the party of boys, Don Weaver, did cry out and urge them to stop shooting after the first volley. He was questioned by Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson, under cross examination by attorney F. L. Johnson of the defense, he said that his memory had failed him at the time of the inquest, when he was interviewed at Espey Hospital, where he was a patient, and had said that he heard no outcry from among his companions to stop shooting, and that his hands were at his side when the bullet struck him in the left arm. He testified at the trial that he heard Don Weaver call out to the officers to quit shooting and that he was raising his arms above his head when the bullet struck him. He admitted, under cross-examination that his memory had been refreshed by a visit to the office of Attorney Darlington of the prosecution last Sunday. The point was the most important scored by the defense during the day.

Dorsey Nichols, told a similar story of the affair as the other boy, except that he ran after the first volley of shots, and was struck some distance from the wood pile behind which he had previously been concealed. He was with his brother, who was killed, and with Clarence Keiter, aged 12, who was slightly wounded. He was subjected to strenuous cross-examination by Judge Shoup, during which the altercation between the attorneys took place. He admitted he was in bad health since the shooting.

KLAN SENDS FIFTY DOLLARS TO SUNDAY

Dayton, O., Dec. 14.—Chief of Police Woodward, and 24 uniformed patrolmen together with ten plain clothes men attended the Billy Sunday revival last night.

The presence of the officers may have been due to the tip earlier in the day that a delegation of the Ku Klux Klan would attend in full regalia and a great throng estimated at more than 8,000 packed the tabernacle.

During the preliminary song service some one in the audience passed up an envelope addressed to Billy Sunday. Herman Rodehever, master of ceremonies opened and read it to the congregation. It was a full and complete endorsement of the teachings of the evangelist, was signed, "The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan" and in the letter was a check for $50 drawn in favor of the evangelist personally.

WHO STOLE HOG IS MYSTERY POLICE ARE ASKED TO SOLVE

Who stole Henson Winslow's hog? That's the question the police would like to have answered.

Winslow knows that the hog, a big fat porker which he valued at $35, disappeared from a pen at the rear of his premises, 803 East Market Street, Sunday night.

The hog, was found slaughtered and dressed, in a stable between Market and Main streets, which is rented by John Nooks, of Orchard Street, Monday. Chief of Police Graham, and Patrolmen Spencer and Cramer found the carcass.

Nooks is missing.

Lewis "Pete" Allen, 39, Orchard St., and Elmer Johnson, attempt to implicate each other as well as Nooks, in the theft. Allen says Johnson did it, and Johnson says Allen did it. Each denies his own guilt. Johnson reported the whereabouts of the slaughtered pig to the police.

Allen went voluntarily to police headquarters Wednesday night, and attempted to prove an alibi for himself by declaring that he spent Sunday night at the home of his aunt in Middletown. He was locked up. The men are all colored.

Charges of larceny have been made against Nooks, Allen and Johnson. Johnson was not arrested and promised police to appear at headquarters Thursday afternoon.

WHO STOLE HOG IS MYSTERY POLICE ARE ASKED TO SOLVE

Who stole Henson Winslow's hog? That's the question the police would like to have answered.

Winslow knows that the hog, a big fat porker which he valued at $35, disappeared from a pen at the rear of his premises, 803 East Market Street, Sunday night.

The hog, was found slaughtered and dressed, in a stable between Market and Main streets, which is rented by John Nooks, of Orchard Street, Monday, Chief of Police Graham, and Patrolmen Spencer and Cramer found the carcass.

Nooks is missing. Lewis "Pete" Allen, 39, Orchard St., and Elmer Johnson, 35, to implicate each other as well as Nooks, in the theft. Allen says Johnson did it, and Johnson says Allen did it. Each denies his own guilt. Johnson reported the whereabouts of the slaughtered pig to the police.

Allen went voluntarily to police headquarters Wednesday night, and attempted to prove an alibi for himself by declaring that he spent Sunday night at the home of his aunt in Middletown. He was locked up. The men are all colored.

Charges of larceny have been made against Nooks, Allen and Johnson. Johnson was not arrested and promised police to appear at headquarters Thursday afternoon.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. To simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

WOMEN ARE VICTIMS OF POISONED NEEDLE

Paris, Dec. 14.—"Needle Demons" is the title given to the originators of the latest crime wave in Paris, which police reports show has been growing in intensity for the past two weeks until now dozens of women daily are being pinked with poisoned needles by unidentified monomaniacs.

The terror began among the women Christmas shoppers in the big department stores, but the needle jabbers are now operating in auto buses, the subways and other places where crowds congregate and it is possible to inflict the injury and escape without identification.

The police are as much mystified as they were by last winter's epidemic of dress and fur coat slashing, and so far no arrests have been made. While the needle points are believed to be poisoned, the effect on the victim is not serious, the women usually escaping with slight swellings and muscular pains.

Transportation and Rail Strikes Foreseen by Allen

New York, Dec. 14.—Transportation and coal strikes, on as great if not greater scale than the two in the past year, are foreseen by Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas. These national strikes, said the chief executive, whose fight for the industrial court focussed the eyes of the nation on him, will occur within the next year, or possibly in two years.

In an exclusive interview, given international News Service today, he said, that the trend of reducing wages, which will continue in proportion to the reduction in the cost of living, will be fought bitterly by "professional labor leaders" and consequently, the two strikes on a national scale are bound to come. He declined to say in what field of the transportation industry one of the strikes would occur.

Out of these two strikes, he prophesied, will come national and state legislation, which will give to whatever organization the government may have the power to enforce wage decisions made by such government organization.

"The strikes," he said, "are bound to bring about an advance in the interest of the public to bring about legislation for its own protection." The exponent of the industrial court law is cognizant of the bitter animosity to it by labor leaders, who are determined to fight it to the last, but is hopeful of a national realization that such a court is essential for the well being and protection of the public as well as the employer.

The governor was hopeful of the economic conditions that the coming year would bring in stabilizing industry.

"The depth of depression has been touched in our industrial and economic life," he said, "the vision of those who see better times ahead is justifiable. I have met men in the past few weeks, leaders in industry and labor who agree that from now on the general will be upward. Bottom, has been touched and the turning point reached. This is the true in the agricultural world. The farmers realize that the tide has turned. Livestock men are buying more. These are but instances of the stabilizing trend."

A closer alliance with European business would do much to help stabilize the entire world, the governor said.

ONE KILLED AND ANOTHER INJURED

Fond Du Lac, Wis., Dec. 14.—Northwestern passenger and express train No. 1125, northbound, from Chicago and Milwaukee, was wrecked early today between West Bend and Barton, Wis. Fireman John Leoman, of Fond Du Lac, was killed instantly, his body burned to a crisp.

Engineer Tom Green, of Fond Du Lac, was thrown fifty feet and is not expected to live.

The road bed was torn up for fifty feet and all traffic is held up.

JAMESTOWN PAIR WED AT BRIDE'S HOME

The marriage of Mrs. Lela Glass Tomlinson to Oscar C. Bradds was solemnized at the home of the bride on West Xenia Street, Jamestown, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, the Rev. Lester Bradds of New Moorefield, the bridegroom's brother, officiating at the single ring service. The bride, who was aided in a white georgette frock, was unattended. A small company of relatives and close friends of the bridal pair was present.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradds will make their home in Jamestown. Mr. Bradds whose home was formerly in Jamestown, lived near Detroit, Mich., until a few months ago, when he returned to Jamestown.

WARREN A. MYERS, PROMINENT SPRINGFIELD MANUFACTURER AND SECRETARY OF THE ROBBINS AND MYERS COMPANY, WHO FORMERLY OPERATED A BRANCH FACTORY IN THIS CITY, IS CRITICALLY ILL AT HIS HOME, 928 NORTH FOURTH AVENUE, SPRINGFIELD, MR. MYERS HAS BEEN IN ILL HEALTH FOR A YEAR, BUT IT HAS ONLY BEEN WITHIN THE LAST FEW DAYS THAT HIS CONDITION HAS BECOME GRAVE.

GIRLS SCOUTS ELECT OFFICERS

Officers were elected for the Girl Scouts organization, at a recent meeting held at the home of Scouts Edna and Helen Chambliss, on West Second Street. Miss Mildred Clark was elected leader of Patrol One, and Miss Alice Davis, leader of Patrol Two; Miss Margaret Regan, being selected Secretary and Treasurer; and Miss Elizabeth Hardy, scribe. Plans were made by the Scouts at the meeting for Christmas.

The girls will be entertained at the home of Scout Margaret Rogan, 34 Home Avenue, Friday evening, at 7 o'clock. The Scouts are requested to wear their middie suits and bring their flags to the meeting.

WESTMINSTER GUILD ELECTS OFFICERS WEDNESDAY.

Mrs. James Wilson, Third, was elected president of the Westminster Guild, of the Presbyterian Church, at the election of officers held at the home of Miss May Orr, on East Market Street, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Paul Cresswell, was elected vice president of the society, Miss Emma Treasie, secretary, and Miss Orr, treasurer.

Mrs. D. D. Jones read the paper of the meeting, an interesting feature following the business session. Miss Orr was assisted in entertaining the fifteen members of the society by Mrs. Wilson.

ENTERTAINING CLUB HONORING MEMBER

Mrs. Edward Smith of Center street, entertained members of the W. W. Club at her home Wednesday to say goodbye to Mrs. Margaret Rickett, who is going to Detroit on a visit. The hostess served a delicious chicken dinner, and the guests spent the day with her, planning for the Christmas sale which the club is to hold soon.

TELL JUDGE THEY SEEK SEPARATION

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hodson, of South Galloway Street, have decided to separate and end their difficulties according to their stories to police Thursday morning.

Hodson was arrested Wednesday night for disorderly conduct on complaint of his wife, Thursday morning Police Judge E. D. Smith dismissed the charge. Hodson told the judge that he and his wife would "quit." A short time later Chief of Police Graham was summoned by anxious neighbors of the Hodsons, who thought that there was trouble in the Hodson domicile again, and all tranquil at the place and husband and wife reiterated to him their intention of separating. They were permitted to continue the process of removing themselves from each other.

Mrs. Hodson made an attempt to commit suicide some time ago by taking poison.

EAST END NEWS

Mrs. Maggie Moss, of East Main Street, is among the sick this week. Mr. James Baker, of New York, who has been the guest of his mother, and sisters, since Thanksgiving, was the week end guest of friends in Columbus.

Corra Lewis, of East Main Street, has been ill and out of school for nearly three weeks.

Mrs. Martha McCarroll is visiting with relatives in Springfield, this week.

Mrs. Frank Meredith of Yellow Springs, was the Sunday guest of relatives here.

SEE U. S. PARTICIPATION

London, Dec. 14.—Advices from Washington intimating the United States may participate more actively in European affairs next year, particularly in regard to reparations, were conspicuously displayed on the first pages of London newspapers today. Newspapers expressed the opinion that "President Harding will intervene."

Mrs. Anna Pickering of Paintersville, Ohio, was cut and bruised but not seriously hurt, when she fell down the cellar steps at the home of Mrs. Henry Grottenlock on West Second Street, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker of Lynn Street, are announcing the birth of a daughter, Helen Louise, Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Ed. Shultz of East Thirt St., is in a favorable condition at the McClellan Hospital following an operation for appendicitis and gall stones, which was performed several days ago.

Nieces of Mrs. Rebecca McCampbell of South Galloway Street, took well-filled baskets and spent Wednesday with her. Those present were Miss Mary Van Schoey of Reynoldsburg, Ohio; Mrs. Cameron Bickett, and children, Grace and John Robert; Mrs. Alexander McCampbell and son John Henry, and the Misses Ethel and Cora McCampbell.

Miss Nora Gillespie, of West Main Street, underwent a surgical operation at the Kelly Hale Hospital, Wilmington, Tuesday.

Mrs. William Fields, of Port William, entered the McClellan Hospital, Thursday afternoon, where she will undergo an operation within the next few days.

The little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Earl Denner of Columbus, niece of Dr. Clarence Denner of this city, was operated for removal of tonsils and adenoids at the Espey Hospital Thursday.

Lacerations caused by a nail in a barrel, while he was assisting a posse in a raid on bootleggers about ten days ago, caused an infection on the hand of Special Officer George Spencer, which has caused him much suffering. The condition is improving. Mr. Spencer was confined to his home for several days on account of the trouble.

Mrs. Frank Wolf of the New Burlington pike, who underwent an operation at the Espey Hospital Thursday morning, is in a favorable condition.

Mr. George McCoy, traveling salesman with the Boyd-Welsh Shoe Company, of St. Louis, Missouri, spent the first part of the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCoy of the Stevenson road. He left this city for Lawrence, Kansas.

Miss Maude McClellan, formerly of Xenia, who has been making her home with her sister, Mrs. John Collins of Clifton, left Monday for Rochester, New York where she will make an extended visit with her brother and sister in law, the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest McClellan.

The Rev. Charles P. Proudft, D.D., returned Wednesday from Chicago, where he attended the meeting of the Board of Education of the United Presbyterian Church of which he is a member.

WOMEN ARE VICTIMS OF POISONED NEEDLE

Paris, Dec. 14.—"Needle Demons" is the title given to the originators of the latest crime wave in Paris, which police reports show has been growing in intensity for the past two weeks until now dozens of women daily are being pinked with poisoned needles by unidentified monomaniacs.

The terror began among the women Christmas shoppers in the big department stores, but the needle jabbers are now operating in auto buses, the subways and other places where crowds congregate and it is possible to inflict the injury and escape without identification.

The police are as much mystified as they were by last winter's epidemic of dress and fur coat slashing, and so far no arrests have been made. While the needle points are believed to be poisoned, the effect on the victim is not serious, the women usually escaping with slight swellings and muscular pains.

The officers who will guide the members of the Greene County Farm Bureau in the new projects that are to be launched during the coming year, will be elected during the afternoon session of the annual meeting of the County Farm Bureau, at the assembly room of the Court House Saturday.

Transportation and Rail Strikes Foreseen by Allen

New York, Dec. 14.—Transportation and coal strikes, on as great if not greater scale than the two in the past year, are foreseen by Governor Henry H. Allen, of Kansas. These national strikes, said the chief executive, whose fight for the industrial court focused the eyes of the nation on him, will occur within the next year, or possibly in two years.

In an exclusive interview, given International News Service today, he said, that the trend of reducing wages, which will continue in proportion to the reduction in the cost of living, will be fought bitterly by "professional labor leaders" and consequently, the two strikes on a national scale are bound to come. He declined to say in what field of the transportation industry one of the strikes would occur.

Out of these two strikes, he prophesied, will come national and state legislation, which will give to whatever organization the government may have the power to enforce wage decisions made by such government organization.

"The strikes," he said, "are bound to bring about an advance in the interest of the public to bring about legislation for its own protection."

The exponent of the industrial court law is cognizant of the bitter animosity to it by labor leaders, who are determined to fight it to the last, but is hopeful of a national realization that such a court is essential for the well being and protection of the public as well as the employer.

The governor was hopeful of the economic conditions that the coming year would bring in stabilizing industry.

The depth of depression has been touched in our industrial and economic life," he said. "The vision of those who see better times ahead is justifiable. I have met men in the past few weeks, leaders in industry and labor who agree that from now on the general will be upward. Bottom, has been touched and the turning point reached. This is the true in the agricultural world. The farmers realize that the tide has turned. Livestock men are buying more. These are but instances of the stabilizing trend."

A closer alliance with European business would do much to help stabilize the entire world, the governor said.

ONE KILLED AND ANOTHER INJURED

Fond Du Lac, Wis., Dec. 14.—Northwestern passenger and express train No. 1125, northbound, from Chicago and Milwaukee, was wrecked early today between West Bend and Barton, Wis. Fireman John Leoman, of Fond Du Lac, was killed instantly, his body burned to a crisp.

Engineer Tom Green, of Fond Du Lac, was thrown fifty feet and is not expected to live.

The road bed was torn up for fifty feet and all traffic is held up.

CARD OF THANKS.

THE BEAM IN THE EYE OF THE SOLID SOUTH.

In the eleven states of the solid south more than two thirds of those made national citizens by the federal Constitution including many more white men and women than black, are by force, fraud and legal trickery disfranchised. This rotten borough system is the blackest scandal in American politics but is ignored by hide-bound Democratic partisans generally, because it benefits the political oligarchy which dominates these states. It is not attacked by political demagogues of any party because no political advantage would be gained in demanding justice for the disfranchised masses and no multi-millionaire is financing a publicity campaign against it. Congress is commanded by the constitution to reduce the representation of states in the House and the electoral college in proportion to their reduction of the electorate. This command has been for years ignored for reasons of Democratic partisan advantage and demagogic political expediency. Any politician or journalist who denounces "New-berrism" while remaining silent on this subversion of government is a self-condemned hypocrite.

THE PUBLIC.

"EASY-CHAIR" ARMY ON THE RHINE.

The rocking-chair fleet of colloquial fame now has a sister weapon in the easy-chair army in the occupied Rhineland which, according to supplementary budget estimates presented to the Reichstag, has requisitioned in the last twenty months 2,900 so-called club-easy-chairs of the leather-upholstered type, 1,400 tapestry upholstered easy-chairs, 6,300 rattan easy-chairs, 3,000 divans, also 2,380 complete sets of upholstered lounging furniture for the higher officers.

Those are supplements to the large requisitions before the autumn of 1921 for giving facilities to a large proportion of the American and allied soldiers to rest from their arduous duties of keeping the Rhinelanders suppressed.

Additional curios in the furniture list for the last twenty months are 3,500 babies' beds, 10,300 bedroom suites, 4,000 parlor suites and 2,000 miles of bed and table linen.

Yet people wonder that Germany lacks cash for reparations.

WHEN CLEMENCEAU SAYS WE LEFT FRANCE IN THE LURCH HE UTTERS A LIBEL.

Americans are not pleased by the utterances of M. Clemenceau. He is not making friends for himself or his country when he comes to these shores and misstates facts and utters bitter criticisms based upon a mistaken idea of America and Americans. When he declares that the United States "left France in the lurch," he utters a libel, knowing that what he says is not true. When he tells his audiences that Americans "are not as well informed as they ought to be," he can retort that they are quite well informed regarding M. Clemenceau and his doings at the Paris peace conference, but that they can testify that he is not as well informed as he ought to be regarding the United States. If he had been well informed he would not have come across the Atlantic to tell the American people that they should abandon their own judgment concerning Europe and adopt his suggestions as to their course of action.

RED FIRE AND BALLYHOO.

Much cry is being made in Congress over what amounts to precious little wool. Stripped of its political grand-standing, the Norris-Ashurst, radical-progressive proposal to amend the Constitution by abolishing the Electoral College is largely the Dear Old Bunk.

When a voter marks his ballot now he does not vote directly for his presidential choice. He votes for a number of electors, who, in turn, if elected, vote for President. It amounts to the same thing. The number of electoral votes from any State equals the number of members that State has in Congress. The voter is voting for the candidate of his choice when he votes for these electors. It is a little cumbersome, but it is fair and representative and has worked easily and automatically since 1804.

All the new amendment proposals is to take the names of the electors off the ballots. The candidate who gets the most votes in a State will, as now, receive the "electoral vote" of that State. That vote will be certified and forwarded to Congress by the Secretary of the State or other official, instead of the "electors" meeting as they do now, certifying the vote and sending it by messenger to Washington.

The "popular vote" will have no more to do with the election results than it does now. The "electoral vote" will name Presidents as it does today. It still will be possible for a candidate to get a greater "popular vote" than his opponent and lose in the electoral count. The whole business amounts to a large and empty gesture.

The abolition of the "electors" might make it easier for a third-party candidate to get his name on the national ballots. That is about all. The average voter will know little about it and care less. Granted that the amendment is adopted, no vital interest will be served. Nothing much will happen, one way or another, that has not been happening.

So far as it has been proposed, the whole business is a piece of "ballyhoo" in front of the insurgent tent. It is the burning of red fire and the clashing of the loud cymbal on a high platform by some of our most persistent self-advertisers in and out of Congress.

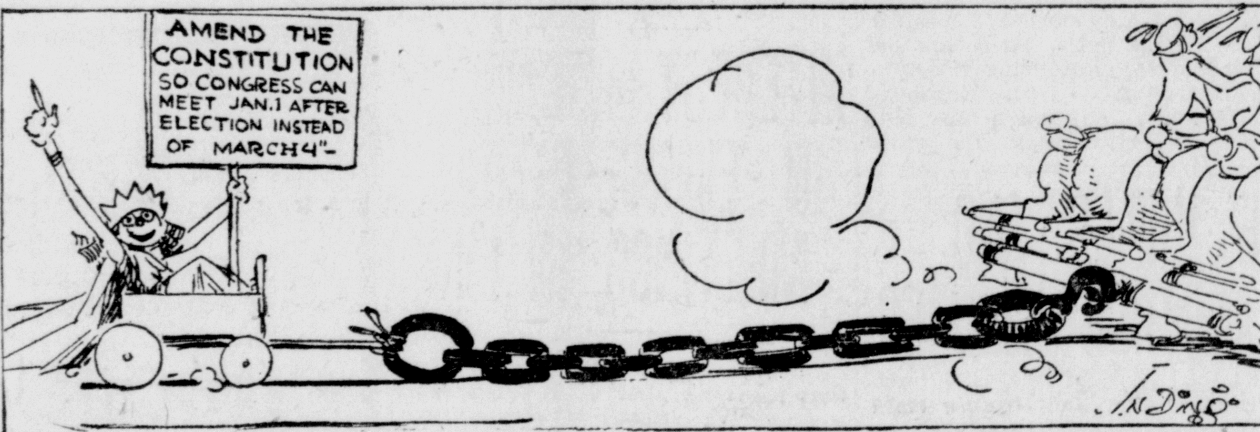

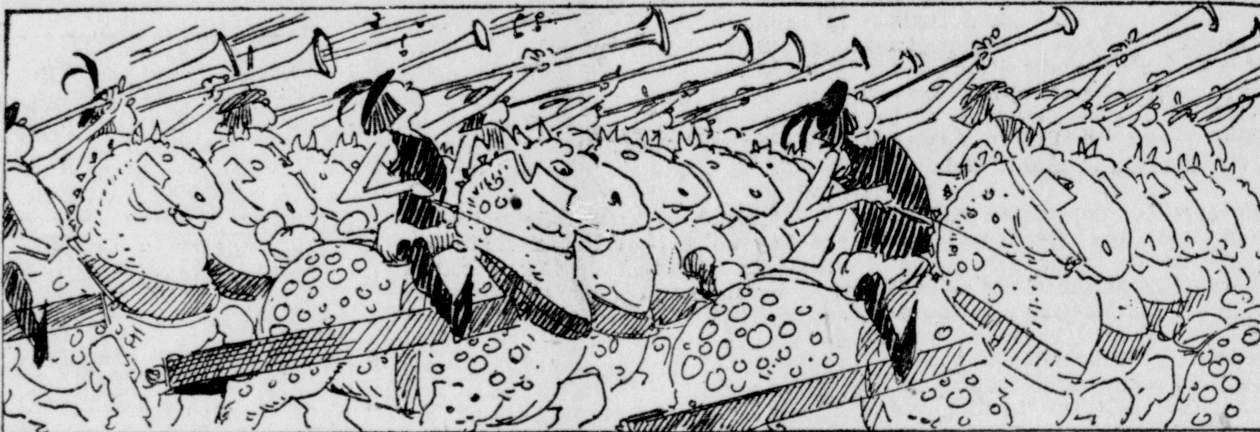

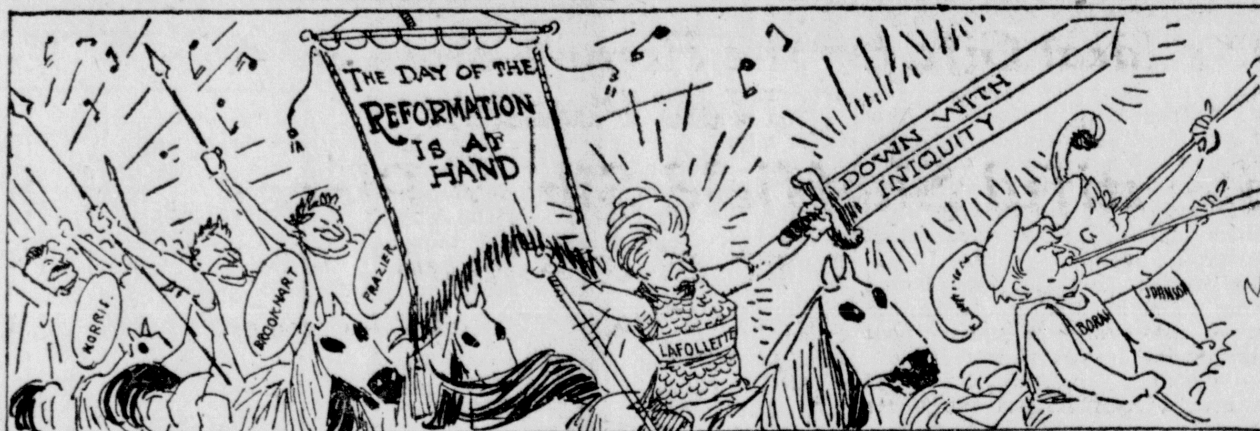

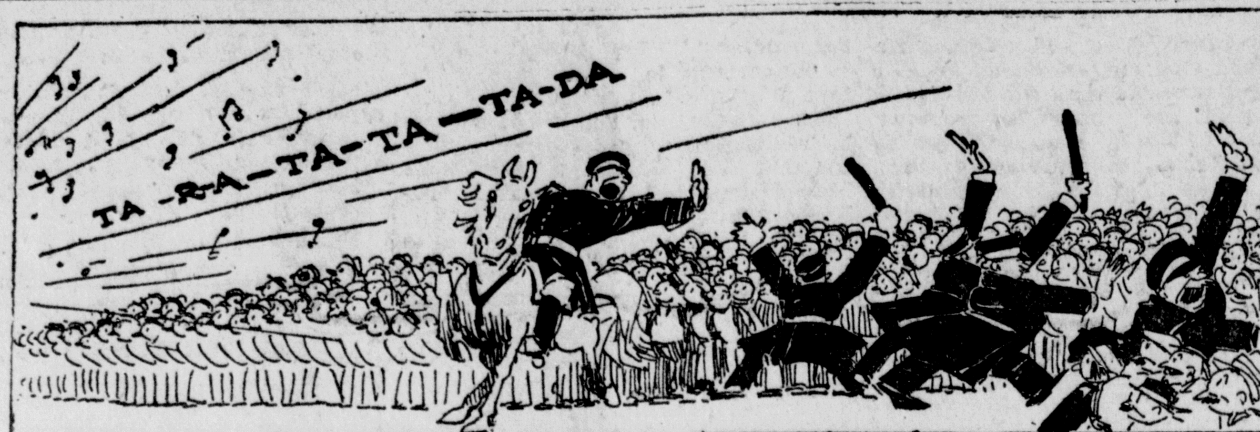

It is estimated that 42,000,000 men and women gainfully employed in the United States lose on an average of six days annually from illness, disability and non-industrial accidents.

Carl E. Johnson, of Clarksburg, West Virginia, who has been a street car employe for 17 years, has resigned that position and is meeting with great success as a clergyman.

A new grain elevator with a capacity of 10,000,000 bushels is to be erected in the eastern part of Montreal harbor to enable cargo boats to load without having to move away as at present, when a liner arrives.

Pat Kirwin, a conductor on the Lackawanna Railroad, has just retired because of the monotony of the life. Kirwin is 72 years of age and has never missed a run in 53 years of service for the railroad company.

THE MOUNTAIN LANORED AND BROUGHT FORTH A MOUSE

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

It is seldom that railroad men have such trying times as they experienced last night with the sleet. One of the brakemen in the Xenia yards remarked yesterday that he had been on the road for 16 years and had never put through such a night. It was difficult to keep a foothold with the cars at rest, and almost impossible when they were moving.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Johnson of Bowersville, are visiting here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McClellan.

The Montgomery County Children's home is to be removed

some time in the future. As it now stands it is on valuable ground, too expensive for its use. It is also a detriment to development in that section, as streets cannot be run through.

A report was current in the city today that an effort had been made last night to blow the safe at the office of the People's Building and Savings Company, on East Market Street. It was found that a number of bricks from a chimney on the residence adjoining had crashed through the window of the office, shattering the glass and breaking the sash.

HAIRDRESSING STYLES

At last we have some really new styles in hair dressing! I know every professional hair dresser will scorn me for this statement, and say that new styles have been coming in frequently—but really now, have you noticed any change in the way hair has been done lately?

For months, years I think, we have dressed our hair, close to the head, a flat, simple style that more or less outlines the head and brings out particularly the lovely curve of the back where the head shapes down into the neck. It has been a beautiful style, hard only on the girl whose skull never developed properly back there.

She, poor dear, has had to go on wearing knots and such arrangements to conceal the place where Nature neglected her.

But now the Paris hair dressers say we must all wear psyche knots and large buns on the back of the head. A friend of mine, now in Paris, has sent me pages of directions and illustrations of the modes in all the smartest hair dressing shops.

Most of the new ways dress the hair simply, softly off the face, with a bit of fluffing over the forehead or ears, according to the shape and needs of the face. But very little of the length of the hair is used up so. Most of the hair, the hair dresser reserves for a lovely, big, soft look ink knot, directly at the back of the head about level with the nose or a wee bit higher.

And—here's the touch of genius—to emphasize the distinction of head and neck, they thrust a big comb, of plain or fancy tortoise shell, into the knot just where it fastens to the head. The effect is superb.

Naughty Nellie—I don't know whether cigarette smoking is harmful or not—anyway who do it? If certainly isn't "naughty" or "daring" any more, too many women smoke. If you want to be really smart nowadays, it seems to me that the thing to do is to be the one girl who doesn't smoke! You needn't take a prudish attitude about it, prudishness is always silly—simply say you don't care about it.

Hazel T.—Don't use cocoa butter on the face, it's too heavy for the complexion. Use flesh building cream if you want my receipt, send me a letter with a self addressed stamped envelope enclosed and I'll mail it to you. It's easy to make at home and costs much less than creams of similar quality would if brought ready made.

unless melted into love and beauty and made to smile back again into the heart-face of the stars, the blue sky, the standing, solid strata of rock, the waving, sending, high nodding miles and miles of trees, and the earth's great lap of flowers.

Is there freedom anywhere else?

Is it any wonder that we must depend upon our poets for a visualization of greatness? They who have eyes—see!

You may feel very poor in earthly material—but, my friend, you have God's free Out-of-doors. Wash your soul in it every day, and become clean.

THE BEAM IN THE EYE OF THE SOLID SOUTH.

In the eleven states of the solid south more than two thirds of those made national citizens by the federal Constitution including many more white men and women than black, are by force, fraud and legal trickery disfranchised. This rotten borough system is the blackest scandal in American politics but is ignored by hide-bound Democratic partisans generally, because it benefits the political oligarchy which dominates these states. It is not attacked by political demagogues of any party because no political advantage would be gained in demanding justice for the disfranchised masses and no multi-millionaire is financing a publicity campaign against it. Congress is commanded by the constitution to reduce the representation of states in the House and the electoral college in proportion to their reduction of the electorate. This command has been for years ignored for reasons of Democratic partisan advantage and demagogic political expediency. Any politician or journalist who denounces "New-berryism" while remaining silent on this subversion of government is a self-condemned hypocrite.

THE PUBLIC.

"EASY-CHAIR" ARMY ON THE RHINE.

The rocking-chair fleet of colloquial fame now has a sister weapon in the easy-chair army in the occupied Rhineland which, according to supplementary budget estimates presented to the Reichstag, has requisitioned in the last twenty months 2,900 so-called club-easy-chairs of the leather-upholstered type, 1,400 tapestry upholstered easy-chairs, 6,300 rattan easy-chairs, 3,000 divans, also 2,380 complete sets of upholstered lounging furniture for the higher officers.

Those are supplements to the large requisitions before the autumn of 1921 for giving facilities to a large proportion of the American and allied soldiers to rest from their arduous duties of keeping the Rhinelanders suppressed.

Additional curios in the furniture list for the last twenty months are 3,500 babies' beds, 10,300 bedroom suites, 4,000 parlor suites and 2,000 miles of bed and table linen.

Yet people wonder that Germany lacks cash for reparations.

WHEN CLEMENCEAU SAYS WE LEFT FRANCE IN THE LURCH HE UTTERS A LIBEL.

Americans are not pleased by the utterances of M. Clemenceau. He is not making friends for himself or his country when he comes to these shores and misstates facts and utters bitter criticisms based upon a mistaken idea of America and Americans. When he declares that the United States "left France in the lurch," he utters a libel, knowing that what he says is not true. When he tells his audiences that Americans "are not as well informed as they ought to be," they can retort that they are quite well informed regarding M. Clemenceau and his doings at the Paris peace conference, but that they can testify that he is not as well informed as he ought to be regarding the United States. If he had been well informed he would not have come across the Atlantic to tell the American people that they should abandon their own judgment concerning Europe and adopt his suggestions as to their course of action.

RED FIRE AND BALLYHOO.

Much cry is being made in Congress over what amounts to precious little wool. Stripped of its political grand-standing, the Norris-Ashurst, radical-progressive proposal to amend the Constitution by abolishing the Electoral College is largely the Dear Old Bunk.

When a voter marks his ballot now he does not vote directly for his presidential choice. He votes for a number of electors, who, in turn, if elected, vote for President. It amounts to the same thing. The number of electoral votes from any State equals the number of members that State has in Congress. The voter is voting for the candidate of his choice when he votes for these electors. It is a little cumbersome, but it is fair and representative and has worked easily and automatically since 1804.

All the new amendment proposes is to take the names of the electors off the ballots. The candidate who gets the most votes in a State will, as now, receive the "electoral vote" of that State. That vote will be certified and forwarded to Congress by the Secretary of the State or other official, instead of the "electors" meeting as they do now, certifying the vote and sending it by messenger to Washington.

The "popular vote" will have no more to do with the election results than it does now. The "electoral vote" will name Presidents as it does today. It still will be possible for a candidate to get a greater "popular vote" than his opponent and lose in the electoral count. The whole business amounts to a large and empty gesture.

The abolition of the "electors" might make it easier for a third-party candidate to get his name on the national ballots. That is about all. The average voter will know little about it and care less. Granted that the amendment is adopted, no vital interest will be served. Nothing much will happen, one way or another, that has not been happening.

So far as it has been proposed, the whole business is a piece of "ballyhoo" in front of the insurgent tent. It is the burning of red fire and the clashing of the loud cymbal on a high platform by some of our most persistent self-advertisers in and out of Congress.

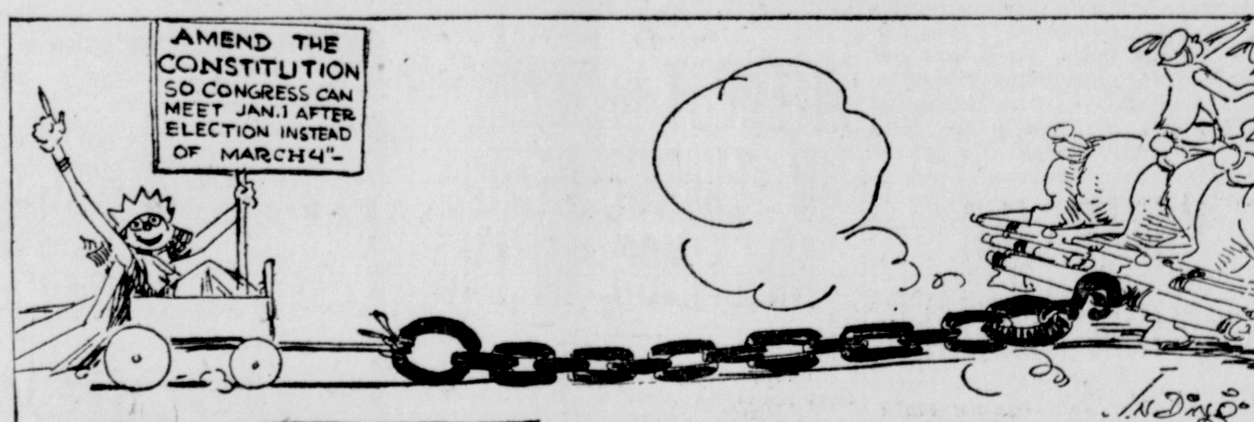

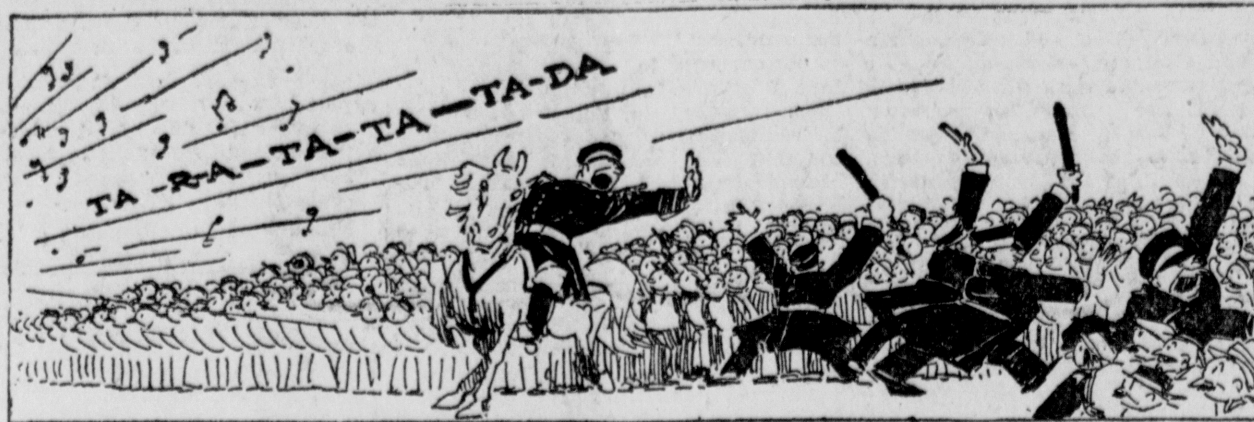

It is estimated that 42,000,000 men and women gainfully employed in the United States lose on an average of six days annually from sickness, disability and non-industrial accidents.

Carl B. Johnson, of Clarksburg, West Virginia, who has been a street car employe for 17 years, has resigned that position and is meeting with great success as a clergyman.

A new grain elevator with a capacity of 10,000,000 bushels is to be erected in the eastern part of Montreal harbor to enable cargo boats to load without having to move away as at present, when a liner arrives.

Pat Kirwin, a conductor on the Lackawanna Railroad, has just retired because of the monotony of the life. Kirwin is 72 years of age and has never missed a run in 53 years of service for the railroad company.

THE MOUNTAIN LANORED AND BROUGHT FORTH A MOUSE

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

It is seldom that railroad men have such trying times as they experienced last night with the sleet. One of the brakemen in the Xenia yards remarked yesterday that he had been on the road for 16 years and had never put through such a night. It was difficult to keep a foothold with the cars at rest, and almost impossible when they were moving.

Mrs. and Mrs. Mel Johnson of Bowersville are visiting here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McClellan.

The Montgomery County Children's home is to be removed

some time in the future. As it now stands it is on valuable ground, too expensive for its use. It is also a detriment to development in that section, as streets cannot be run through.

A report was current in the city today that an effort had been made last night to blow the safe at the office of the People's Building and Savings Company, on East Market Street. It was found that a number of bricks from a chimney on the residence adjoining had crashed through the window of the office, shattering the glass and breaking the sash.

HAIRDRESSING STYLES

At last we have some really new styles in hair dressing! I know every professional hair dresser will scorn me for this statement, and say that new styles have been coming in frequently—but really, have you noticed any change in the way hair has been done lately?

For months, years I think, we have dressed our hair, close to the head, a flat, simple style that more or less outlines the head and brings out particularly the lovely curve of the back where the head shapes down into the neck. It has been a beautiful style, hard only on the girl whose skull never developed properly back there.

She, poor dear, has had to go on wearing knots and such arrangements to conceal the place where Nature neglected her.

But now the Paris hair dressers say we must all wear psychic knots and large buns on the back of the head. A friend of mine, now in Paris, has sent me pages of directions and illustrations of the modes in all the smartest hair dressing shops.

Most of the new ways dress the hair simply, softly off the face, with a bit of fluffing over the forehead or ears, according to the shape and needs of the face. But very little of the length of the hair is used up so. Most of the hair, the hair dresser reserves for a lovely, big, soft looking knot, directly at the back of the head about level with the nose or a wee bit higher.

And—here's the touch of genius—to emphasize the distinction of head and knot, they thrust a big comb, of plain or fancy tortoise shell, into the knot just where it fastens to the head. The effect is superb.

Naughty Nellie—I don't know whether cigarette smoking is harmful or not—anyway who do it? If certainly isn't "naughty" or "daring" any more, too many women smoke. If you want to be really smart nowadays, it seems to me that the thing to do is to be the one girl who doesn't smoke! You needn't take a prudish attitude about it, prudishness is always silly—simply say you don't care about it.

Hazel T.—Don't use cocoa butter on the face, it's too heavy for the complexion. Use flesh building cream. If you want my receipt, send me a letter with a self addressed stamped envelope enclosed and I'll mail it to you. It's easy to make at home and costs much less than creams of similar quality would if brought ready made.

Use cocoa butter for a wrinkled neck, it's all right there. Massage it in well and bind up the neck with old muslin, letting the oils soak in all night. Wash in the morning with hot water.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES CONQUERED OR MONEY BACK

For 40 years, said Dr. Carey, I have been prescribing my prescription No. 777 (known for years as Marshroot) for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice, I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price, on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health. Watch the symptoms. If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffy eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or sideache, you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 right away.

It has wonderfully benefited tens of thousands of cases of kidney and bladder troubles and is the medicine you can always depend upon. Results are guaranteed.

NOTE—Dr. Daniel G. Carey was a practicing physician for many years and his great Prescription No. 777 aided thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. Hereafter you can always get this effective prescription in both liquid and tablet form at Sayre and Hemphill and all reliable druggists the country over.

FIRE PREVENTION STRESSED IN FILM AS BENEFIT SHOW

An educational film on fire prevention adds to the interest of the regular program at the Bijou Theater at the firemen's benefit, which opened Wednesday afternoon, and will be presented Thursday and Friday, afternoon and night.

A special matinee for school children was held Wednesday, and the dangers of "playing with fire," and carelessness concerning it, were driven home in the minds of the youthful spectators. Chief L. B. Clair of the fire department says that an additional real will add interest to that feature of the exhibit Thursday and Friday. One of the scenes depicts the fate of children who play with fire after being left alone locked in their home, by their mother.

The regular film, "North of the Rio Grande," featuring Jack Holt and Bebe Daniels is a stirring picture of great interest. There are many thrilling scenes in the picture, which also features the novelty of twin horses.

ANTIOCH COLLEGE WINS OVER RIVALS

Antioch college won over Springfield Y. W. C. A. Industrials through a forfeited game at Yellow Springs Wednesday night. The game ended with a score of 12 to 12. A five minute overtime period was necessary, but Miss Toland of the Springfield quintet was put out of the game for too many fouls. Her associate players declared that all the fouls did not belong to Miss Toland, some of them being called on Miss Parker.

When the referee would not allow Miss Toland to continue the Springfield girls refused to go on with the game. Up until the time the game was stopped, reports state that the game was fast and excellently played. In the preliminary game the Springfield Triangles lost to the Antioch Academy girls 19 to 5.

Rabbi Gives Stirring Talk At Red Cross Meeting

"I am interested in the Red Cross because it is a cosmopolitan organization, a real American organization, democratic in its principles recognizing no creed, no dogmas, and all races and colors," declared Rabbi Samuel Mayerburg, of Dayton, in a fiery address at the annual meeting of the Greene County Chapter of the American Red Cross, held Wednesday afternoon at the First Reformed Church.

Representatives of each township Red Cross organization in the County were present at the meeting, which was marked with enthusiasm, the program being prepared to give definite proof of the work of the county Red Cross during the past year. The meeting was presided over by the Rev. W. H. Tilford, chapter chairman of the county organization, who introduced Rabbi Mayerburg.

"I am interested in the Red Cross because it is a national organization with supplies at Washington, with thousands of beds, covers, medicines, supplies, with supply depots with equipment, for every emergency," was one of the statements of Rabbi Mayerburg, the principal speaker, of the meeting.

"The Red Cross make an appeal to every man which is inescapable, it draws under its banner, Jew, Protestant, Catholic, white man, black man, yellow man, symbolizing humanity, service, charity, and philanthropy. For philanthropy there is no creed, for benevolence there is no race. Both stand for bringing health and cheer for those who are desolate and forlorn. I consider it a great privilege and honor to be affiliated with the Red Cross, and to have headed its drive last year in Dayton. I was enthralled with the possibilities of the Red Cross. We are enabled to teach Red Cross, that is the ideal for which the Red Cross stand, 'Service'."

"The Red Cross is building a new creed in American service, it is building an aristocracy of service. The true citizen can be judged by what he does."

"The spirit of Americanism is embodied in the American Red Cross, developing the real asset of the city, county, state and nation, in citizens, who have the spirit of service," declared the speaker.

"We can teach Europe the true spirit of America through the Red Cross, by giving the true ideal of America, hope and democracy. This was even recognized by our enemies. No greater lesson has been taught than that under the banner of the Red Cross, which pictures America, the one unselfish country of the world, a country too great, too big, too fine, with ideals too lofty to grasp the wealth of others. America was built upon the foundation of truth, brotherly love, and service, embodied in the spiritual aspects of the American Red Cross. The response to the calls to Chili, Egypt, and China, bears this out. The Red Cross gives not only physical health, relieving pain, and sorrow but a spiritual help."

"One of the beauties of the Red Cross is it is one organization which is protected, and honored in every land, by every person. Everybody respects the Red Cross, even the unscrupulous Turk."

"The Red Cross is a symbol of true humanity and true altruism to all people. Spread the spirit of the Red Cross, because it is the spirit of

PRINCIPALS IN MURDER TRIAL AS SEEN BY ARTIST

The principals in the second degree murder trial now in progress at the Court House were sketched by Dean of the Dayton News Wednesday. The drawings above show the result of the artist's conception of the figures in the trial as they appeared in the Court Room.

The four men charged with murder in the second degree as a result of the fatal shooting of Volney Nichols, and the serious wounding of two other boys on the Wilmington pike, September 5, are Sheriff Lincoln Furber, Deputies Joseph Day and William Burns and Police Officer Charles Simms.

PLATFORM ADOPTED BY PROGRESSIVES: AVOID THIRD PARTY

Cleveland, Dec. 13.—The second conference for progressive political action adjourned after adopting a platform.

Refusal to seat representatives of the Workers' Party of America, adoption of resolutions for future political action, which did not mention the formation of a third party, a broad program of organization and the naming of a national executive committee of 21 members were the results of the meeting here.

The purposes of the conference, as declared in the report of the organization and finance committee, was the nomination and election of presidents and vice president of the United States, United States senators, congressmen, members of state legislatures and other state and public officers, "who are pledged to the interests of the producing classes and to the principles of genuine democracy in agriculture, industry and government."

Meetings of the conference are to be held annually, representation being from "every national and international organization of labor, farmers or co-operative societies, state federations of labor, legislative boards of transportation organizations and city central bodies of labor."

Funds to defray the expenses of the conference will be by a per capita tax on affiliated organizations. It is provided that "as soon as possible" the national committee of the conference shall call conferences of "farmers' organizations, labor unions, co-operative societies and other progressive political forces, including individuals in each state, for the purpose of perfecting permanent state organizations."

The report of the resolutions committee, presented by Edward Keating, former congressman from Colorado, was adopted after prolonged debate. Among other things demanded by the platform are repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law, direct election of the president of the United States and that congress "end the practice of the courts to declare legislation unconstitutional."

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR FARM BLOC

Washington, Dec. 13.—Another victory for the "farm bloc" loomed upon the senatorial horizon this afternoon when, after a visit to the White House Senator J. E. Watson, Republican of Indiana, one of the administration leaders, declared the ship subsidy bill undoubtedly will be laid aside for farm credits legislation. The bloc has opposed the ship subsidy bill and sponsored early action on farm legislation, despite the insistence from President Harding, that the ship bill is acted upon with all possible haste.

GIRL'S SWEETHEART DECLARES MISSING WOMAN A SUICIDE

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Kate Mitchell Trosteli, pretty young widow who has been mysteriously missing three weeks, was not murdered—she "leaped into the drainage canal," her sweetheart, Arthur Foster, 32, told the police today after he had broken down following a severe grilling lasting forty hours.

"Kate and I had a violent quarrel," he confessed, according to the police, "We were standing on the bank of the drainage canal."

"Suddenly Kate turned and leaped into the water. That was the last time I saw her alive. She must be dead or she'd be home."

Police are convinced she was murdered. News of Foster's admission were transmitted to Chief of Police Chas. C. Fitzmorris. Shortly afterward, Fitzmorris and leading police officials hustled the prisoner to the death scene to re-enact the tragedy. Foster appeared to be on the verge of complete collapse. His eyes turned glassy and his hands twitched nervously.

"I do not believe Foster's story that Mrs. Trosteli leaped into the water," said Chief of Detectives Michel Hughes.

Foster's story did not explain the finding of blood stains on the running board of his automobile. In the car, also, was found a bloodstained robe, a black button and a pencil, both of which had been identified as belonging to the missing woman.

GOVERNOR APPOINTS JUDGE

Columbus, Dec. 13.—Governor Davis has appointed Abram W. Agler, Canton, as Common Pleas Judge in Stark County, succeeding State Supreme Judge-elect Robert H. Day, Canton, effective January 1. Judge Agler was elected Common Pleas Judge last month, the term beginning April 23 next.

POLICE JUDGE DIES

Dayton, Ky., Dec. 13.—Samuel K. Tarvin, 64, judge of Dayton police court, died at his home today.

AMERICAN MONEY REACHES GREAT HEIGHTS IN GERMANY WRITES HERMAN HARNER FROM EUROPE

American money can be made to reach almost impossible seeming heights in Germany, according to Herman Harner, former Xenia newspaperman, who is now living in Berlin, doing special writing.

Owing to the rates of exchange now existing because of the recent war, the American dollar will purchase so many German marks, that Americans are able to live under the best conditions possible, at a cost of but a few cents a day.

In a recent letter Mr. Harner explains that he is living with an artist in a beautifully furnished suite of rooms, with the best of service available and all for ridiculously low amount. Meals are equally cheap considering the rate of exchange Mr. Harner said in a recent letter he had just purchased the best suit of clothes he ever had for an equivalent to $1 in American money.

Mr. Harner has been in Germany for several months after spending a short time in London, England, after leaving New York where he had been employed for some time on the Journal of Commerce. He is doing special writing now, which his artist friend is illustrating. His address is Savigny Platz 7, Charlottenburg, Berlin, Germany. Mr. Harner is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Harner of the Lower Bellbrook pike.

SEEK COOPERATION IN SCHOOL WORK DECLARES SPEAKER

Co-operation with and not opposition to the work of the teachers is the object of the Parent-Teacher Association, said Mrs. A. J. Barnett of Dayton, in an address to the members of the Parent-Teacher Association of Central school grades Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Barnett, who is vice president of the South West Ohio District of the Parent-Teacher Association talked on "The Relation Between the Parent-Teacher Association and the Schools." She emphasized the idea that the work of the organization is largely education, but that the association should know that its mission is not to rule the schools. She also dwelt upon the community idea in the work of the association, and said that attention should be given the social side, and an effort made to have an entertaining program arranged for every meeting.

Mrs. M. L. Wolf, in making a financial report said that the Federated Parent-Teacher Association had realized $288 from the play, "The Microbe of Love," which was presented recently and $54 from the market which it conducted. The total, $342 was divided as follows between the three schools, Orient Hill, $72; Central $108 and McKinley, $144. In each school the money will be used for the welfare work, principally the feeding of undernourished children.

Mrs. J. H. Benbow, president of the Central grades branch of the Federated P. T. A., presided at the meeting.

LEAVES SICK BED TRYING TO SAVE CHILD FROM FIRE

Toledo, Dec. 13.—Desperately ill, William Harper left his sick bed in an effort to save the life of his son, Russell, 3, whose clothing was ignited from an open grate in the one-room home of the Harpers here. Weak from long illness, the father staggered from bed, snatched the burning clothing from the child, groped his way back to the bed and fell in a swoon. The child may die. The mother was at work in a downtown store.

DIVORCES ELEVENTH HUSBAND.

East St. Louis, Ill., Dec. 13.—Mrs. Cora Lilley was granted a decree of divorce from Albert Lilley, her eleventh husband, who was also Nos. 8 and 10. She charged Lilley stayed home from work three days in succession with the purpose of beating and abusing her.

SUSPECT IS SHOT.

Cincinnati, Dec. 13.—Following a gun fight with detectives in Price Hill, a suburb, Johnny Turner, alias Ross, of Pittsburgh, lies dangerously wounded in a hospital with a bullet wound in his hip. His two companions, Mrs. Dorothy Tingle and Albert Walsh, both of Lexington, were detained by police for investigation. Turner was shot when he attempted to run from detectives, who were questioning the trio.

CLEMENCEAU SAYS FRENCH SHOULD NOT OCCUPY GERMANY

New York, Dec. 13.—Georges Clemenceau, the "Tiger of France," symbolized the dove of peace when he sailed for home just before noon today on the liner Paris. He declared against further occupation of Germany by French troops, saying that "no real Frenchman wants to annex a foot of German territory."

Whether or not M. Clemenceau was successful in his patriotic efforts to draw France and America closer together in international friendship, there was no doubt about his own personal popularity as a vast throng of Americans and French residents crammed the French liner pier, cheering, shouting farewells and waving hats and handkerchiefs. Women, overcome by emotion sobbed.

Three weeks of continuous travel and speech making had left little mark of fatigue upon the 80 year old statesman. His eye was bright, his step alert and his voice vigorous as he spoke.

Tremendous importance was attached to an exclusive statement on French policy made by Clemenceau to International News Service just before he sailed. The former premier, who is still a power in France, said:

"I do not want to see the French army go into the Ruhr. I fear the consequences of such a move. I am afraid of the effect of such occupation upon the German democracy, already bearing a heavy burden, and having a hard struggle with the junkers. No real Frenchman wants to annex a foot of German territory."

Clemenceau's dictum is just the opposite to the present policy of Premier Poincare who is insisting upon military occupation of the "German Ruhr."

DEMAND DECISION

London, Dec. 14.—A demand that a final and permanent decision be reached upon the question of German reparations will be made in the House of Commons tonight by Premier A. Bonar Law, when he announces the British policy on indemnity. Members of the government declared that the British are tired of conferences. Former Premier Lloyd George announced he would have a declaration to make during the reparations policy debate.

Former Xenians Pastors John Wanamaker's Church

The death of John Wanamaker, merchant prince, of Philadelphia, is of more than general interest locally, owing to the fact that two former Xenians, the Rev. A. Gordon MacLennan and the Rev. George S. Macaulay, are pastors of Bethany Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, usually called, "Wanamaker's Church."

The Rev. Mr. MacLennan is a

Wednesday.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Acrimonious wrangling between members of the judiciary committee of the House and those who are seeking the impeachment of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty again marked the progress of the proceedings when they got under way today.

Representatives of organized labor, represented by Jackson Ralston, chief counsel for the American Federation of Labor resumed its attacks on the attorney general.

Excursions of some evidence by the judiciary committee led to a threat by Ralston to obtain an order from the full House of Representatives for the production of the evidence he wished to present.

Ralston frequently clashed with Rep. Volstead, Republican of Minnesota, chairman of the committee over his ruling out of certain evidence which alleged "indecent conduct" on the part of William J. Burns, whom Daugherty made chief of the Bureau of Investigation.

Daugherty's appointment of Burns is one of the acts upon which the attorney general's enemies seek his impeachment. They allege Burns is "unfit" and consequently Daugherty, by appointing him, also is "unfit" for the high office he holds.

graduate of Xenia Theological Seminary, and was for a time pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Yellow Springs. He is a son-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Taylor of Yellow Springs. The Rev. Mr. Macaulay, was pastor of the Presbyterian Church, this city. Both ministers were warm friends while here, and were both engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in France during the World War.

John Wanamaker's life was woven into the work of Bethany Church, the activities of which all centered about him. He gained wide fame as founder of Bethany Sunday School, said to be the largest in the world. The Sunday School has an active membership of 3,600. The Men's Bible Class has 300 members, the Men's Brotherhood, 500 members, and the Boys' Union 380 members. In connection with the church there is a fully equipped Bethany Brotherhood House, and the church employs 22 paid workers, besides the two pastors. The 2,250 members of the church live in all sections of the city, so that the pastors cover a wide territory in their pastoral visitations daily.

Allied organization are the Penny Savings Bank, which was Wanamaker's plan, and which has a surplus of $3,000,000; the Wanamaker Institute, where trades of many sorts are taught and the Friendly Inn.

Dr. W. A. Galloway visited the Rev. Mr. MacLennan and the Rev. Mr. Macaulay while he was in the East in the autumn, and had the opportunity of seeing closely the varied interests of the great church. He says that the church is never vacant on Sundays from the time the activities commence at 8:30 until 9 o'clock at night. Many persons stay for the entire day, taking their lunches. The magnificent music is a special feature of both the church and Sunday school services.

MILLION DOLLAR CRUISE AROUND WORLD IN SMALL CRAFT COMES TO END IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 11.—The first cruise around the world on the motor boat ended at 11 a. m. today when the 98 foot yacht, Speerjacks, carrying Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gowen Jr., of Chicago, docked in the East River.

The boat left New York 16 months ago and followed the equator. Part of its crew deserted. It was wrecked in the South seas and it fought storms that finished barge craft. The trip, it is estimated, cost $1,000,000 of which $100,000 went for gasoline. The voyage was the Gowen's honeymoon trip.

"Oh, what a relief it is to get back," sighed Mrs. Gowen as she relaxed in the trim cabin. "No motor boat has ever circumnavigated the globe before and I do not believe that another ever will for no man is crazy enough to undertake such a trip. But now that it is over, I don't regret it."

And Mrs. Gowen told of the 16 months of buffeting by huge waters against which the frail little craft was like a straw, of scenes visited in little corners of the world, of head hunters and cannibals and south sea belles.

"We started out from New York with a crew of seven Americans and returned with an international crew," she laughed. "We now have one Chinaman, one Russian, a Frenchman, a Scotchman, and an Australian and two Americans who stuck through with us. Others deserted and we had to pick up new crews in all sorts of odd places around the world."

None of Us Like to Be Forgotten

Bishop McDowell tells of an old farmer at the close of the Civil War, bereft of his sons, sat down in a certain college chapel. He saw the students come in and had a vision of the long procession of students through the year.

He said to himself, "These will go and others will come. The professors will go and others will take their places. My farm would just about endow a chair, so I will go home and deed it to this college. Then, by the grace of God, I shall be here while the world stands."

None of us like to be forgotten. From the time of Cheops to the present day, men have been building pyramids and tombs, erecting tablets and headstones to tell that they are dead, but the man who puts his money into the endowment of a college leaves a memorial to tell that he is alive as long as the institution stands.

CLEMENCEAU SAYS FRENCH SHOULD NOT OCCUPY GERMANY

New York, Dec. 13.—Georges Clemenceau, the "Tiger of France," symbolized the dove of peace when he sailed for home just before noon today on the liner Paris. He declared against further occupation of Germany by French troops, saying that "no real Frenchman wants to annex a foot of German territory."

Wrapped in a fur collared great coat, with his now famous soft felt hat pulled down over his ears, the former French premier waved an affectionate farewell to the land that he said he should never see again.

Whether or not Mr. Clemenceau was successful in his patriotic efforts to draw France and America closer together in international friendship, there was no doubt about his own personal popularity as a vast throng of Americans and French residents crammed the French line pier, cheering, shouting farewells and waving hats and handkerchiefs. Women, overcome by emotion sobbed.

Three weeks of continuous travel and speech making had left little mark of fatigue upon the 80 year old statesman. His eye was bright, his step alert and his voice vigorous as he spoke.

Tremendous importance was attached to an exclusive statement on French policy made by Clemenceau to International News Service just before he sailed. The former premier, who is still a power in France, said:

"I do not want to see the French army go into the Ruhr. I fear the consequences of such a move. I am afraid of the effect of such occupation upon the German democracy, already hearing a heavy burden, and having a hard struggle with the junkers. No real Frenchman wants to annex a foot of German territory."

Clemenceau's dictum is just the opposite to the present policy of Premier Poincare who is insisting upon military occupation of the "German Ruhr."

WANT SEPARATION OF GAS INTERESTS

Columbus, Dec. 14.—The proposal to separate its natural gas interests from its other business operations, and to conduct its natural gas activities under the name of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company was approved here today at a meeting attended by stockholders holding 75 per cent of the stock of the Ohio Fuel Supply Company.

The plan which is subject to the approval of the State Utilities Commission provides that the Ohio Fuel Supply Company shall turn over to the new company all its natural gas interests in return for all the capital stock to be issued by the Ohio Fuel Gas Company.

The company supplies gas to about 140 communities in central Ohio, including Zanesville, Barnesville, Xenia, Springfield, Columbus, Troy, London and Wayne county.

LUTHERAN LADIES AID HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

The member of the Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran Church, held an interesting business session at the home of Mrs. John Schwab, on Trumbull Street, Wednesday afternoon. The completion of the business matters of the society at the end of the year was reported on at the meeting, the members being highly pleased with the financial success of the organization during the year. Eighteen members attended the meeting, which closed with the serving of refreshments by Mrs. Schwab.

TO EXPLAIN WORK

The Boys' and Girls' Club work, which has been one of the most important phases of the program of the Greene County Farm Bureau during the past year, will be explained by leaders of the various clubs, at the annual Greene County Farm Bureau meeting, to be held Saturday, in the Assembly room of the Court House. The clubs to be represented will be the Poultry, Food, Clothing, Pig, Calf, and Stock Judging Clubs, boys and girls who have won honors in the various projects to give the talks. The talks of the young people will either include their stories of their work during the past year, or a recitation of their trips to Columbus in the past few months. The reports will feature the afternoon meeting.

LAD DIES IN SPRINGFIELD

Carl Edward, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reynolds of Springfield, died at 5 o'clock Thursday morning of diphtheria according to word received by local relatives. The boy was about 5 years old. His older brother, aged about 7 is ill of the same malady. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds have two older children. Mrs. Albert Jones of Lynn Street, who is a sister of Mrs. Reynolds, went to Springfield after learning of her nephew's death.

WANT SEPARATION OF GAS INTERESTS

Columbus, Dec. 14.—The proposal to separate its natural gas interests from its other business operations, and to conduct its natural gas activities under the name of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company was approved here today at a meeting attended by stockholders holding 75 per cent of the stock of the Ohio Fuel Supply Company.

The plan which is subject to the approval of the State Utilities Commission provides that the Ohio Fuel Supply Company shall turn over to the new company all its natural gas interests in return for all the capital stock to be issued by the Ohio Fuel Gas Company.

The company supplies gas to about 140 communities in central Ohio, including Zanesville, Barnesville, Xenia, Springfield, Columbus, Troy, London and Wayne county.

LUTHERAN LADIES AID HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

The member of the Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran Church, held an interesting business session at the home of Mrs. John Schwab, on Trumbull Street, Wednesday afternoon.

The completion of the business matters of the society at the end of the year was reported on at the meeting, the members being highly pleased with the financial success of the organization during the year.

Eighteen members attended the meeting, which closed with the serving of refreshments by Mrs. Schwab.

TO EXPLAIN WORK

The Boys' and Girls' Club work, which has been one of the most important phases of the program of the Greene County Farm Bureau during the past year, will be explained by leaders of the various clubs at the annual Greene County Farm Bureau meeting, to be held Saturday in the Assembly room of the Court House.

The clubs to be represented will be the Poultry, Food, Clothing, Pig, Calf, and Stock Judging Clubs, boys and girls who have won honors in the various projects to give the talks.

The talks of the young people will either include their stories of their work during the past year, or a recitation of their trips to Columbus in the past few months. The reports will feature the afternoon meeting.

OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNG ARTISTS OF CITY IS AT HAND

Here is an opportunity for Xenia's budding artists.

The Social Service League is sponsoring a contest among pupils of the public and parochial schools of the city whereby the youthful artists will receive cash prizes for the best posters depicting the work of the League.

Pupils of the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades will be admitted to the contest, which closes at 4 o'clock the afternoon of December 27.

B. H. Slagle, local bill poster has supplemented the contest with a personal offer, whereby he will award cash prizes to the high school pupils, who present the best drawing covering the same matter, and subject to the same rules.

The regulations are only that the poster shall faithfully depict the work of the League, that it shall not be smaller than 19 1/2 by 28 inches, and that it shall be on file at the Chamber of Commerce not later than December 27, at 4 p. m.

A prize of $2 each will be awarded the winning contestant in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, by the Social Service League.

Mr. Slagle is offering for the high schools a first prize of $5, second of $3 and third of $2.

The contest is expected to stimulate much interest among the young folks.

ALVA NULEN TOBIN DIES WEDNESDAY

Alva Nulen Tobin, 35, died at his home 23 Bellbrook ave Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, after a lingering illness. Mr. Tobin had been ill for over a year, a stroke of apoplexy he suffered last Monday resulting in his death.

He was born in Jamestown, October 16, 1887, and had resided in Xenia for the past 12 years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lora Tobin and three children, Mabel, Harriet and Ralph. His mother, Mrs. Emily Tobin of Xenia, and one sister, and four brothers, Mrs. Oscar Tidd, of Xenia; and Clinton Tobin, John Tobin, and Elihu Tobin of Xenia, and Clemmer of Springfield, also survive.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the Church of God on South Detroit Street. Interment will be made at Woodland cemetery.

RAPS OBJECTIONABLE MOVING PICTURES

Speaking on the possibilities of the motion picture as a means of education and decrying the apparent tendency toward pictures portraying the wrong side of life, R. Hayes Hamilton, in an address before members of the local Kiwanis Club, Wednesday evening at the Elks Lodge, urged the use of the machine in schools and colleges.

The responsibility for questionable pictures was laid at the door of "moral people," by the speaker, who said that "as long as moral people continue to attend exhibitions of immoral pictures they will continue to be the most popular."

The use of the silver screen as a means of disseminating advertising of products of this country was stressed by Mr. Hamilton, who said that in this way foreigners could be introduced to the manufacturing of this nation.

Christmas plans of the club were advanced at the meeting Wednesday evening with the assigning of names of needy families of the city to Kiwanians who will play Santa Claus next week. In the neighborhood of forty families will be taken care of in this way, it is estimated. Permanent play equipment will be purchased and installed at the County Children's home, and with the co-operation of county officials and the matron, members of the club will assist in instruction at that institution so far as games and amusements were concerned.

OUTLINES FUNDAMENTAL CHRISTIANITY POINTS

"Some folks have the book knowledge of Christ, but have not the knowledge in their hearts, which means that they have a saving power," declared Mrs. Flora Ruth Chatfield, at the Tuesday evening, evangelistic services at the Church of the Nazarene.

Mrs. Chatfield's text was "God's Standard of Christianity" taking her text from Matthew 7:24.

"God has five fundamental points in his standard of Christianity," Mrs. Chatfield declared, "first, our righteousness must exceed that of the Scribes and Pharisees, forms and ceremonies will not suffice; second, love your enemies, forgive and forget; third, love not the world, fourth straight and narrow is the way leading to eternal life; and fifth, obedience to God's will. Not only hearers of the world, but you must be doers of the world, to reach his standard. Obedience means safety, disobedience means failure," the evangelist told her audience.

CROCHETING A CHILD'S BED SOCKS.

There is no nicer Christmas present to give little Bobbie or Alice, than a pair of warm bed socks. Children love them. On a cold night, they appreciate having the socks to slip their little feet into. A neighbor of mine—the mother of several little ones—has given me the following directions to publish so that other mothers may make bed socks for their children.

Directions for Crocheting Bed Socks which measure five and one-half inches in length: One ball of old-blue Shetland floss. A number five bone or celluloid crochet hook. Chain nine stitches, then put one half double crochet in seven of these chain stitches (making first stitch in the second chain stitch). On the eighth chain stitch, make two half double crochet stitches, and work down other side of chain—making seven half double crochet.

Work round and round, working the half double crochet in between the half double crochet or previous row instead of on top, putting two half double crochet stitches between the two half double crochet stitches of last row for increase at top of toe—16 rows all together.

Seventeenth Row: Work round, leaving four stitches on each side of the center increase, chain two, turn. Work back and fourth on the remaining stitches for five rows, chaining two for turn, each time.

Twenty-Second Row: Work six rows on the first nine stitches, join to other side of the work at end of the five rows, which ends the twenty-first row with slip stitch down side and across bottom of heel.

Top: Make three rows of half double crochet around top; on fourth row make an edge of three chain and one single crochet in each stitch. Make a cord and run it in the second row of stitches. Finish cord with small balls made as follows:

Simply wind the yarn around and around a two-in-square piece of stiff cardboard until it stands about as thick as your little finger on both sides of this card. Now slip the yarn off the card and tie this thick ring of yarn exactly in the middle, tying it with a short double piece of yarn. Then cut the loops at either end—this will make them fluff up over the middle part which you tied.

The best thing about the bed socks is that they can be made of odds and ends of left-over yarn, if one desires. For, they are not worn where all the world may gaze upon them! I know of two women who make "rainbow bed socks" for themselves by tying odd bits of yarn together and crocheting the socks as if they were using all one color. When the shades are delicate—such as white, pink, pale blue and yellow, the effect is really very pretty. Bed socks may also be made from Germantown or luster wool which you have ripped from a faded or worn shawl or sweater, but which is too frayed to use for making an out-ofdoors garment.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

Mrs. Page was absolutely devoted to baby Jack. Even before he came she had spoken of selling her California property and coming east to live, so she could be near Walter, her only close relative. Since baby's arrival she had mentioned it more often.

I had taken Jack and gone home for a week. What a fuss-father and mother made over him, and me. I fairly reveled in the petting I got from them all. Mother and I talked of Mrs. Page, and I told her how I had learned to like her, although she annoyed me often, and sometimes made me angry.

"She seems to like me in her cold, distant way," I said, "but it is so different from your way, Mother. I insist upon being called 'Mrs. Page.' I should have loved to call her 'Mother' when she first came, but now I don't think I could. It wouldn't seem natural."

Rather different from you and Walter. He hardly waited until we were married to claim you."

"We can't all be alike, dear," mother replied, "and I am sure she has many good qualities. You will love her in time, and she you. An old woman as alone as she is, is to be pitied. I don't wonder she talks of coming East to live near you and Walter."

The day I returned to Mrs. Page said:

"I have decided to go home in a few days, sell my home, and settle in the East. I have talked it over with Walter, and he insists I make my home here with you, and when I feel disposed travel and make visits, it would relieve me from care, and I should with Jack." Her voice took on a tender tone as she mentioned the baby, taking away in part the rebellious feeling that had swept over me when she told of the arrangement, made while I was away, and without consulting me. How like Walter it was.

"When shall you go?" I asked, not knowing what to say, even though she had mentioned "in a few days."

"The last of the week, Walter, you see about my transportation, dear. You are agreeable to the arrangement, Doreen?" she asked with one of her hard keen glances. Walter's eyes were upon me, a frown on his face at my hesitation.

"Certainly," I said.

"We will take a large apartment, have another maid," she added. "I shall pay my share of household expenses. I shouldn't consent to live with you unless we made such an arrangement."

"Consent! No more long evenings with Walter, just we two alone; her sharp eyes and sharper tongue criticizing my every movement. I felt like screaming at her that I couldn't have her, that I wouldn't!"

I looked directly at her. She was getting old in a proud haughty sort of a way; was a lonely woman, and she had no one but us, Walter, little Jack, and me. Walter left for the studio, and we still sat at the table. When we rose she slipped her hand through my arm, and said:

"I couldn't live away from you all now that I have been with you my long."

"We will try to make you happy," I replied. The subject wasn't mentioned between us again before she left.

Walter, however, talked of it. Said he:

"It'll be jolly having the Mater live with us, leave you free to come and go, and feel perfectly safe about Jack. I think we will take a long trip South this winter. We haven't been anywhere to speak of since we were married. We can afford it and I have been thinking of it for some time."

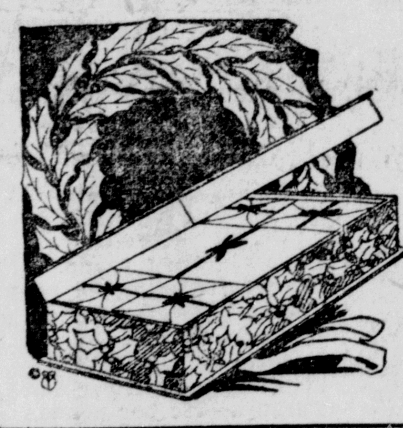

"Oh, how jolly! Really do you think we may go?" I asked, delighted. Walter was the most charming traveling companion one could imagine, always gay, so full of fun, seeing everything.

"Yes, I am sure we shall. You see if Mother weren't with us, we'd have to take the boy and a nurse. If we had any kind of a time that would be expensive, and a nuisance. Young babies are better off at home. And Mother knows how to take care of him."

"She'll have him spoiled by the time we get back," I laughed.

"Never mind! Let her spoil him. It will do her good, and won't hurt him." Then in another tone: "It was nice of you not to object to Mother's living with us. I couldn't refuse her the way she put it to me, but I was afraid you would not like it. You're a dear to be so nice about it."

"We will take a large apartment, have another maid," she added. "I shall pay my share of household expenses. I shouldn't consent to live with you unless we made such an arrangement."

"Consent! No more long evenings with Walter, just we two alone; her sharp eyes and sharper tongue criticizing my every movement. I felt like screaming at her that I couldn't have her, that I wouldn't!"

I looked directly at her. She was getting old in a proud haughty sort of a way; was a lonely woman, and she had no one but us, Walter, little Jack, and—me. Walter left for the studio, and we still sat at the table. When we rose she slipped her hand through my arm, and said:

"I couldn't live away from you all now that I have been with you my long."

"We will try to make you happy," I replied. The subject wasn't mentioned between us again before she left.

Walter, however, talked of it. Said he:

"It'll be jolly having the Mater live with us, leave you free to come and go, and feel perfectly safe about Jack. I think we will take a long trip South this winter. We haven't been anywhere to speak of since we were married. We can afford it and I have been thinking of it for some time."

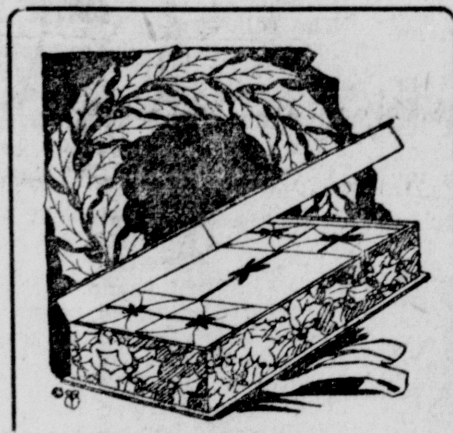

"Oh, how jolly! Really do you think we may go?" I asked, delighted. Walter was the most charming traveling companion one could imagine, always gay, so full of fun, seeing everything.

"Yes, I am sure we shall. You see if Mother weren't with us, we'd have to take the boy and a nurse. If we had any kind of a time that would be expensive, and a nuisance. Young babies are better off at home. And Mother knows how to take care of him."

"She'll have him spoiled by the time we get back," I laughed.

"Never mind! Let her spoil him. It will do her good, and won't hurt him." Then in another tone: "It was nice of you not to object to Mother's living with us. I couldn't refuse her the way she put it to me, but I was afraid you would not like it. You're a dear to be so nice about it."
